

VIG Developed Market Short Term Bond Investment Fund

EI series EUR MONTHLY report - 2024 OCTOBER (made on: 10/31/2024)

INVESTMENT POLICY OF THE FUND

The aim of the Fund is to increase the euro savings held in the Fund, while assuming low interest-rate and credit risk. The Fund mainly buys short-term, euro-denominated bonds of investment-grade issuers, and aims to generate a return for investors through interest income and price gains on them. The Fund Manager invests the savings held in the Fund in short-term bonds denominated in euros. The Fund Manager assumes a low interest-rate risk; the modified duration of the portfolio is more than 6 months, but may not be higher than 2.5 years. The Fund also follows a cautious strategy in terms of assuming credit risk, investing a maximum of just 10% of its assets in bonds of non-investment grade or non-credit rated issuers. The Fund primarily invests in developed-market government securities, but this can also be supplemented by credit-institution, corporate and/or municipal bonds, as well as by term deposits and repo transactions. The Fund can also invest a small part of its portfolio in emerging markets. In addition, the Fund may invest in collective investment forms, and can fine-tune the design of its portfolio through the use of derivatives (stock-exchange and OTC transactions). The Fund invests exclusively in securities denominated in euros, and may hold currency assets in bank deposits or bank accounts only for the purpose of liquidity management and currency hedging. It is not possible to make individual investor decisions in the Fund. No individual investor's decisions can be made in the Fund.

MARKET SUMMARY

Last month's economic data suggests that the US and the EU economies are diverging further. The US economy stays robust, with upward revisions of economic growth and strong job creation reported in recent months. Contrary, the Eurozone has encountered unexpected economic activity slowdowns, with weaker growth signals emerging from different sectors. Overall inflation slows down across Atlantic, while core inflation has shown signs of stickiness, indicating underlying pressures that continue to bother both economies. In the recent weeks, global financial markets responded to the volatile economic environment and central bank actions. In the US, relatively strong labour market and optimistic corporate earnings expectations have supported positive investor sentiment, resulting in a strong performance for the stock market. Expectations of further interest rate cuts by the Fed is also contributing to a favourable environment for equities. On the other hand, the Eurozone has experienced mixed market moves, where the ECB's monetary easing has provided some support, but economic uncertainty has toned down market sentiment. In China, recent economic stimulus measures fuelled a rally in equities, even though apprehension about the sustainability of growth remain amid structural problems. In fixed income markets, expectations of further rate cuts have initially led to a decrease in US bond yields, but more recent strong labour market data caused a meaningful uptick of the entire curve. At the same time EGBs yields moved slightly lower, showing some decoupling from the US movements due to the region's distinct economic challenges. Overall, both equity and fixed income markets reflected a cautious optimism driven by central bank easing policies – but potential volatility looms, influenced by upcoming earnings reports, geopolitical tensions, and differing recovery trajectories. We switched to German government bonds from French and EFSF ones and relocated some duration from Portugal and Austria to Belgian government papers, amid stayed positive towards asset class overall.
