

INVESTMENT POLICY OF THE FUND

The purpose of the investment fund is to create an equity fund that can profit from long-term demographic changes and the related changes in consumer habits. The Fund aims to achieve long-term capital growth by investing in global companies that can benefit from the growth and aging of the population, the social and economic changes associated with a healthy lifestyle, urbanisation, the expansion of the emerging markets' middle class and the global economic trends stemming from these social changes, as well as the changing consumption habits driven by such demographic changes.

The Fund aims to achieve its objectives through equity-type instruments, primarily exchange-traded funds (ETFs), equities and open-ended public investment funds. The Fund takes a forward-looking approach and actively seeks companies in industries that can benefit from the long-term global demographic changes and related changes in consumer habits. Investments are made in companies that have strong fundamentals and are well positioned for long-term value creation and competitive advantage due to demographic and social changes. Trends related to demographic and social changes are long-term processes that go beyond normal economic cycles and are generally global and affect the entire world. Consequently, the Fund is not subject to any geographical restrictions. Since the Fund aims to profit from long-term growth and has significant exposure to the equity market, we recommend the Fund to investors who want to invest in the longer term and have a relatively high willingness to take risk.

MARKET SUMMARY

The rapid change in US economic policy stances remains difficult to predict. Although there were previously high hopes for the start of the new presidential term, these optimistic expectations have now diminished considerably, as reflected in the deterioration in equity market sentiment and a more cautious investor positioning. Economic growth fears have intensified in March, with the words recession and stagflation becoming more common, which would not be a supportive environment for equity markets. Moreover, the market was kept in a state of great uncertainty by the announcement of Trump's new tariff measures promised for 2 April. In March, the defensive rotation in equity markets continued, with consumer staples and healthcare sectors rallying, but the fall has already hit these sectors. In recent months, the pharmaceutical sector has come under temporary pressure following Trump's announcement of his nomination of Robert F. Kennedy Jr. as health secretary, raising fears of a crackdown on drugmakers and tighter regulation. However, Kennedy's room for manoeuvre appears to be limited, the market has welcomed the nomination of Martin Makary to head the FDA and Kennedy struck a more moderate tone at his Senate hearing. Valuations in the healthcare sector are attractive, with strong profit growth expected this year. The long-term outlook looks positive, as an ageing population and rising healthcare spending could provide sustained demand, while a focus on prevention could also create new opportunities for innovative companies.
