

VIG Developed Markets Government Bond Investment Fund

A series HUF MONTHLY report - 2024 OCTOBER (made on: 10/31/2024)

INVESTMENT POLICY OF THE FUND

The objective of the Fund is to create a highly defensive investment portfolio for its Investors, which typically invests in developed-market government bonds and related exchange-traded derivatives. According to the intentions of the Fund Manager, the bulk of the Fund's portfolio is made up of bonds issued by foreign states and foreign companies through public offerings. With regard to foreign securities, the Fund only purchases publicly traded securities listed on a foreign stock exchange. It keeps the planned share of non-investment grade securities low. The proportion of bonds that can be held in the Fund at any given time may reach the prevailing legal maximum. In order to ensure liquidity, the Fund may purchase Hungarian government securities (primarily discount treasury bills) and MNB bonds. The Fund Manager has the option, at its own discretion, of hedging all or part of its foreign exchange risks using forward currency positions subject to observing the applicable legal requirements.

MARKET SUMMARY

Last month's economic data suggests that the US and the EU economies are diverging further. The US economy stays robust, with upward revisions of economic growth and strong job creation reported in recent months. Contrary, the Eurozone has encountered unexpected economic activity slowdowns, with weaker growth signals emerging from different sectors. Overall inflation slows down across Atlantic, while core inflation has shown signs of stickiness, indicating underlying pressures that continue to bother both economies. In the recent weeks, global financial markets responded to the volatile economic environment and central bank actions. In the US, relatively strong labour market and optimistic corporate earnings expectations have supported positive investor sentiment, resulting in a strong performance for the stock market. Expectations of further interest rate cuts by the Fed is also contributing to a favourable environment for equities. On the other hand, the Eurozone has experienced mixed market moves, where the ECB's monetary easing has provided some support, but economic uncertainty has toned down market sentiment. In China, recent economic stimulus measures fuelled a rally in equities, even though apprehension about the sustainability of growth remain amid structural problems. In fixed income markets, expectations of further rate cuts have initially led to a decrease in US bond yields, but more recent strong labour market data caused a meaningful uptick of the entire curve. At the same time EGBs yields moved slightly lower, showing some decoupling from the US movements due to the region's distinct economic challenges. Overall, both equity and fixed income markets reflected a cautious optimism driven by central bank easing policies – but potential volatility looms, influenced by upcoming earnings reports, geopolitical tensions, and differing recovery trajectories. We didn't make meaningful changes in the fund's composition amid being positioned long core government bonds, switched to Intesa Sanpaolo corporate bonds from short-term US, we still do not intend to run a currency risk, therefore, FX exposure is hedged.
