

INVESTMENT POLICY OF THE FUND

The objective of the investment fund is to make the Polish bond market accessible to the investors, and to function as a relatively stable, medium-risk investment form bringing steady real yields to our Clients on middle term already, without having to tie down their money for a fixed period of time. The Fund mainly invests in Polish government securities issued in zloty, however, the portfolio manager has some room to complement the portfolio with other bond-type investments. Our goal is to achieve the highest yield while taking the lowest risk. To make investment decisions we use the tools of both fundamental and technical analysis, and we take into consideration the investor sentiment on the markets at all times. The portfolio manager seeks out potential investment opportunities based on the macro-economical expectations, the expected yield curve, the return expected on the curve and the market volatility, and selects investments that are considered to be safe and bring relatively high yields in exchange for the risks taken. The Fund strives for complete exchange risk coverage of foreign currency exposure for the target currency.

MARKET SUMMARY

Polish bonds performed strongly in April: yields fell by 68 basis points on the 3-year maturity, by 68 basis points on the 5-year maturity, and by 48 basis points on the 10-year maturity. In early May, for the first time since autumn 2023, there was a change in the base rate. In the month prior to the rate decision, a sharp shift had already occurred in the Monetary Council's communication, but the interest rate cut only took place during the rate-setting meeting on May 7. The Monetary Council implemented a 50 basis point rate cut, which was in line with market expectations, bringing the base rate down to 5.25%. According to preliminary data, April inflation came in below the 4.3% market expectation, with prices rising by 4.2% year-on-year. This figure was significantly helped by the higher base from last year, the April decline in fuel prices, slowing wage growth, and lower demand. The decreasing demand may also be reflected in the first-quarter GDP data, although updated figures on that will only be available in mid-May. The Purchasing Managers' Index (PMI) fell to 50.2 in April from 50.7 in the previous month. The indicator has remained above the 50 threshold for the third consecutive month, mainly due to increased production, but employment also rose. Industrial production grew by 2.5% in the third month of the year. As for public finances, the government generated a deficit of 39,943.5 million PLN in the third month of the year, which brought the 12-month rolling budget deficit to 6.85% of GDP. We held more than 0,5 year duration overweight in Polish duration, which proved to be a good decision. However, to achieve this, we had to overweight long end bonds to the detriment of short and mid part of the yield curve, which detracted from positive relative performance as steepness of the yield curve increased significantly, meaning that short term bond yields decreased much more than longer yields.
