

VIG Active Beta Flexible Allocation Inv Fund

E series EUR MONTHLY report - 2025 JUNE (made on: 06/30/2025)

INVESTMENT POLICY OF THE FUND

The Fund's objective is to create an investment portfolio that is intended to achieve capital growth through active portfolio management, investing predominantly in US and European companies. Accordingly, the Fund Manager's investment portfolio is composed of developed-market equities, predominantly securities issued by US and European companies and short-term developed-market government bonds. The Fund pursues an active asset allocation policy. If the Fund Manager considers the prevailing capital market conditions to be unfavourable, it may significantly reduce equity exposure in order to protect capital. If capital market conditions appear ideal for taking equity exposure, the Fund Manager may invest the Fund's assets entirely in equities. On average over a full market cycle, the portfolio maintains an equity ratio of approximately 70%.

The Fund's investment universe includes the developed equity, bond and money markets. The Fund intends to hold liquidity related to trading needs in bank deposits or short-term developed-market government securities. As a general rule, of all the equities in the investment universe, the Fund intends to hold those that are considered the most popular among business partners, employees and investors.

The Fund Manager may significantly reduce equity exposure in the event of a break in a rising trend. In this situation, the Fund mainly holds foreign-currency money-market instruments in its portfolio. In the event of a rising market trend and increasing global risk appetite, the Fund will invest in developed-market equities as mentioned above.

The Fund invests at least 80% in assets that are issued and traded outside Hungary.

MARKET SUMMARY

June started with a rise in US equities, fueled by favorable macro news and renewed interest in technology stocks, particularly in the field of artificial intelligence. Uncertainty surrounding the Trump administration's tariff policy has made life difficult for the Federal Reserve. Fed communications have suggested a cautious approach, but consensus has emerged around the possibility of rate cuts sometime in the second half of the year. Geopolitical tensions over China and the Middle East escalated, but interestingly investor sentiment remained cautiously optimistic. Notably, the Israeli air campaign and the subsequent US strike on Iranian nuclear facilities, and the resulting oil price volatility, had minimal impact on equity markets. This reflects a significant change in market dynamics compared to previous decades. Despite the uncertainty, the prevailing view was that the Iranian leadership would not escalate the conflict, as their only remaining option - closing the Strait of Hormuz - would also make the economic relationship with China, which is important to the regime, impossible. Towards the end of the month, Israel and Iran agreed a ceasefire under pressure from the Trump administration, which was positively received by global equity markets. Our indicators turned positive for US stocks at the beginning of June. We increased our exposure to US equities from zero to 35%, accordingly. Alongside our existing 45% exposure to European equities, we held an average of 80% equity risk during the month of June.
