B series EUR MONTHLY report - 2025 JUNE (made on: 06/30/2025)

INVESTMENT POLICY OF THE FUND

The aim of the Fund is to invest on the stock market of the Central and Eastern European Region. It is for investors who would like a share in the long-term performance of listed companies in the region. In the development of the portfolio of this Fund, the priority is to optimise the aggregate risk of the securities added to the Fund. In order to reduce risks, the Fund Manager exercises the highest degree of diligence when selecting the securities to be included in the portfolio. It analyses the risk factors of the securities, and supports its decisions with in-depth calculations.

The Fund purchases stocks issued by companies in Central and Eastern European region (primarily Hungary, the Czech Republic, Poland, Austria, Romania, secondarily Slovenia, Croatia, Slovakia), but it may also invest in the stocks of other developing and developed foreign companies as well as other collective investment securities. Due to the strategy of the Fund, it may also invest in assets denominated in foreign currency. The Fund may hedge some or all of its foreign currency risk using forward currency positions against the target currency. The Fund Manager has the discretionary right to reduce the foreign currency risk of the currency positions differing from the Fund's target currency, based on the market processes by concluding hedge transactions. In addition, the use of equity and index futures is permitted in order to effectively build the Fund's portfolio. To ensure liquidity, the Fund wishes to add government securities issued by member states of the EU, OECD, or G20 to its portfolio.

MARKET SUMMARY

The US stock markets were driven by conflicting events during the month. On the one hand, favorable corporate results (e.g. Apple, Nvidia) and a court ruling that partially invalidated punitive tariffs had a positive impact on the markets. The Nasdaq Composite index closed at new highs. On the other hand, the war between Israel and Iran and strong government communication aimed at reinstating tariffs were negative factors. The dollar weakened due to unfavorable US macro data, while bond yields declined overall. However, declining volatility had a positive effect, encouraging investors to increase their positions and resulting in record capital inflows into the United States. European capital markets were initially positively affected by the expected interest rate cut by the European Central Bank (ECB). Inflation data for May, particularly in Germany and France, were lower than expected, further reinforcing expectations of monetary easing. However, investor optimism was tempered by the continued weakness of the European manufacturing sector, particularly the decline in the automotive industry. The outlook for the economically significant German economy remains unfavorable, as indicated by continued factory closures and layoffs. On a positive note, however, the United Kingdom received further tariff exemptions from the United States on steel and aluminum products, supporting the price of British industrial stocks.

As a result of the upturn in the second half of June, Central European regional markets closed the month with positive returns once again. This time, however, it was not the banking sector, which has performed excellently so far this year, but the oil sector that contributed most to the upturn. The main reasons for the sector's outperformance were soaring oil prices due to the conflict in the Middle East and widening refining margins. In addition, utility companies performed well, while the retail sector was very weak this time. At the stock level, Wizzair, which reported a weak quarter and withdrew its profit forecast, fell the most, while the shares of game developer CD Projekt rose significantly. We reduced the Fund's equity weighting slightly in June, with the average equity weighting hovering around 100% during the month.
