

VIG Emerging Market ESG Equity Investment Fund

PI series PLN MONTHLY report - 2025 JUNE (made on: 06/30/2025)

INVESTMENT POLICY OF THE FUND

The aim of the Fund is to share in the performance of companies benefiting from the growth of developing economies, through share price increases or dividend payments of listed companies, either directly (through investments in individual stocks) or indirectly (through ETFs or mutual Funds), while taking environmental, social and governance (ESG) criteria into account. The Fund does not directly invest in shares of Chinese companies within the emerging market universe. The geographical distribution is partly determined by the MSCI Emerging Markets Ex China Index, in which, besides a significant Asian (ex China) focus, European and Latin American companies are also heavily represented, and partly by the MSCI World with Emerging Markets (EM) Exposure Index, in which American and European companies represent the greatest weight. The use of stock and index futures is permitted in order to hedge and effectively build the Fund's portfolio. In selecting the stocks, the Fund pays special attention to the ESG compliance of individual companies; therefore, besides analysing financial factors, portfolio managers also consider environmental, social and governance factors in the investment decision process. The Fund Manager seeks to build a portfolio in which the positive ESG characteristics of companies prevail, i.e. companies with high ESG scores are overrepresented in the portfolio as compared to companies with low ESG scores.

The environmental criterion covers the elements where a business interacts with the environment. This includes, for example, the energy usage, waste management, and emission of pollutants of corporations, as well as the preservation of natural resources. Social criteria include all relations of a corporation with external partners, customers and internal employees. Corporate governance criteria include the legal conditions affecting the reliable operation of a corporation.

Due to the strategy of the Fund, it may also invest in assets denominated in foreign currency. The Fund may hedge some or all of its foreign currency risk using forward currency positions against the target currency, i.e. the settlement currency of the benchmark (USD). The Fund Manager has a discretionary right to reduce the foreign currency risk of positions denominated in a currency other than the target currency, depending on market developments, by entering into hedge transactions. In addition, the use of equity and index futures is permitted in order to effectively build the Fund's portfolio. The Fund records its assets in Hungarian forint (HUF).

MARKET SUMMARY

The US stock markets were driven by conflicting events during the month. On the one hand, favorable corporate results (e.g. Apple, Nvidia) and a court ruling that partially invalidated punitive tariffs had a positive impact on the markets. The Nasdaq Composite index closed at new highs. On the other hand, the war between Israel and Iran and strong government communication aimed at reinstating tariffs were negative factors. The dollar weakened due to unfavorable US macro data, while bond yields declined overall. However, declining volatility had a positive effect, encouraging investors to increase their positions and resulting in record capital inflows into the United States. European capital markets were initially positively affected by the expected interest rate cut by the European Central Bank (ECB). Inflation data for May, particularly in Germany and France, were lower than expected, further reinforcing expectations of monetary easing. However, investor optimism was tempered by the continued weakness of the European manufacturing sector, particularly the decline in the automotive industry. The outlook for the economically significant German economy remains unfavorable, as indicated by continued factory closures and layoffs. On a positive note, however, the United Kingdom received further tariff exemptions from the United States on steel and aluminum products, supporting the price of British industrial stocks.

The rally in emerging stock markets, supported by the weakening dollar, continued in June. The dollar-based global emerging stock market index, excluding the Chinese market, rose to a new historic high. Global investor sentiment was favorable, and stock market cash flows remained strong. Geopolitical risks quickly subsided, with the conflict in the Middle East failing to escalate further and even easing somewhat, allowing the price of oil to fall back to near pre-conflict levels. US labor market and inflation data did not indicate a negative turn in either growth or inflation. US tariff policy has so far had less impact on international trade than expected, which has benefited regions with significant global exposure, with the South Korean MSCI stock index closing the month with a double-digit increase in dollar terms, but most emerging markets also ended June on a high note.
