

INVESTMENT POLICY OF THE FUND

The aim of the fund is to achieve a substantial yield for investors by taking high risks and making active use of derivative positions. The Fund applies special investment strategies used by hedge funds to establish its strategy. The fund is willing to buy or sell all available investment instruments - domestic and foreign bonds (treasury bonds, discounted treasury bills, bonds issued by the National Bank of Hungary, as well as low-risk bank and corporate bonds expected to bring higher yields than the state securities) Equities and other securities, indices and currencies - provided it sees the opportunity to make substantial gains – up to the maximum limit allowed by the law, which allows double leverage for the Fund. In its investment decisionmaking mechanism, the Fund considers fundamental pricing, technical and behavioral psychological factors To ensure liquidity the Fund aims to hold government securities issued by the State Debt Management Centre (ÁKK) on behalf of the State of Hungary.

MARKET SUMMARY

The US stock markets were driven by conflicting events during the month. On the one hand, favorable corporate results (e.g. Apple, Nvidia) and a court ruling that partially invalidated punitive tariffs had a positive impact on the markets. The Nasdaq Composite index closed at new highs. On the other hand, the war between Israel and Iran and strong government communication aimed at reinstating tariffs were negative factors. The dollar weakened due to unfavorable US macro data, while bond yields declined overall. However, declining volatility had a positive effect, encouraging investors to increase their positions and resulting in record capital inflows into the United States. European capital markets were initially positively affected by the expected interest rate cut by the European Central Bank (ECB). Inflation data for May, particularly in Germany and France, were lower than expected, further reinforcing expectations of monetary easing. However, investor optimism was tempered by the continued weakness of the European manufacturing sector, particularly the decline in the automotive industry. The outlook for the economically significant German economy remains unfavorable, as indicated by continued factory closures and layoffs. On a positive note, however, the United Kingdom received further tariff exemptions from the United States on steel and aluminum products, supporting the price of British industrial stocks.

The price of the Alfa absolute return fund remained stable in June. The Romanian and US government bond portfolios contributed positively to the fund's return, while the Hungarian portfolio contributed negatively. Equity investments in the portfolio were increased during the month, with Polish equities bought in the post-election correction. We have a neutral view on the forint, so foreign currency investments are hedged back to forint. We anticipate that long bonds will perform well in the coming period and that the European and Central European equity markets will rise.
