VIG BondMaxx Total Return Bond Investment Fund

A series HUF MONTHLY report - 2025 JUNE (made on: 06/30/2025)

INVESTMENT POLICY OF THE FUND

The Fund is a total return investment fund that aims to create a portfolio consisting of bond-type assets through active portfolio management that achieves annualised capital growth for investors higher than the benchmark over a 3-year time horizon. It intends to achieve this objective primarily through asset allocation in global bond markets.
The Fund invests exclusively in bond-type instruments. The Fund's investment universe focuses on developed market government bonds, developed market corporate bonds, local currency emerging market government bonds and hard currency emerging market government and corporate bonds. The primary source of return for the Fund is asset allocation across bond-type asset classes. The asset allocation is based on an “investment clock” approach that uses economic data analysis to determine the position of major regions within a growth cycle. This is complemented by the forecasting of expected movements in real interest rates and inflation expectations, which are also crucial for the allocation across bond markets. Portfolio managers use all these as the basis for making allocation decisions, overweighting the best performing bond asset class in any current economic cycle based on experience and expectations. In the investment process, portfolio managers optimise the interest rate and credit risk of the overall fund and of the exposures to individual bond markets in order to achieve the investment objective.

MARKET SUMMARY

Fiscal issues have once again taken centre stage for investors. In the U.S., the Senate’s approval of President Trump’s tax legislation - expected to add USD 3.3 trillion to the national debt over the next decade - underscores the country's ongoing fiscal challenges. Meanwhile, UK gilt yields surged after the government was compelled to scale back its welfare reform plans.
The past month (and quarter) unfolded more like a high-stakes thriller than a calm period for risk assets, including those in emerging markets. The investment landscape was shaped by a string of unexpected developments, beginning with President Trump’s “Liberation Day” tariff announcements in early April. This was quickly followed by a number of policy reversals, including a temporary pause on reciprocal tariffs with China. Geopolitical tensions flared dramatically in June due to the conflict between Israel and Iran, causing oil prices to spike and sparking inflation concerns—especially for emerging market economies reliant on commodity imports. However, the rally in oil prices was short-lived, as a ceasefire between the two nations helped soothe investor nerves.
Despite the turbulence, emerging market assets delivered strong returns, with broad-based gains across the sector. Particularly notable was the performance of EM local currency debt, which recorded its best first-half showing since 2016 - driven by a weaker U.S. dollar and attractive valuations relative to fundamentals.
The fund continues to hold its position in Ukraine, monitoring developments in the Ukraine-Russia conflict. During the month, we adopted a constructive view on emerging market local rates—adding Hungarian government bonds to our existing Polish exposure as well as to our global EM local debt holdings—resulting in a lengthening of the fund’s overall duration. We also reallocated capital into sovereign bonds from Bahrain, Mexico, and Turkey, reducing exposure to Colombia, Kazakhstan, and the UAE. We remain flexible with regard to our allocations in core rates and emerging market credit, and will adjust exposure based on evolving market conditions.
