

VIG Czech Short Term Bond Investment Fund

A series CZK MONTHLY report - 2025 OCTOBER (made on: 10/31/2025)

INVESTMENT POLICY OF THE FUND

The Fund aims to increase the value of its assets under management and to provide investors with a higher yield than Czech bank deposits and short-term bonds over a period of 1 to 2 years. No individual investor's decisions can be made in the Fund. The Fund Manager selects portfolio elements in accordance with the above principles. When making investment decisions, the tools of fundamental analysis and technical analysis are used, and the current market sentiment is also taken into account. The Fund primarily invests in discount treasury bills issued by the Czech State, sovereign bonds, bonds of quasi-sovereign companies, or bonds or deposit-like instruments issued by the Czech National Bank, the European Central Bank or the central bank of another Member State of the European Union. To a limited extent, the portfolio may include government securities, state-guaranteed bonds, corporate bonds (including those issued by financial institutions) and mortgage bonds with at least investment-grade credit rating. Investments may be made in Czech crowns or, to a limited extent, in other currencies. In the case of assets denominated in a currency other than Czech crowns, the Asset Manager shall strive to fully hedge foreign exchange risks (there cannot be a difference of more than 5% between the currency exposure of the derivative transaction and that of the asset to be hedged).

The Fund may enter into deposit and repo transactions, invest - to a limited extent - in units in collective investment undertakings, and derivatives may as well be used (for the purposes of hedging or building an efficient portfolio).

MARKET SUMMARY

In the Czech Republic, the latest October inflation came in above market expectations, with the Czech Statistical Office reporting a 2.5% year-on-year increase in prices. The higher inflation was mainly driven by stronger food price growth, which was almost the exact opposite of the movement seen in September. The higher inflation figure is expected to once again encourage the Czech National Bank to keep interest rates unchanged at its next monetary policy meeting. This outlook is also supported by stronger GDP growth in the third quarter, elevated wage growth, and the prospect of fiscal loosening. At the beginning of October, parliamentary elections were held, which were won by Andrej Babiš's party, ANO. The party received 35% of the votes but failed to secure a majority. During the month, short-term bond yields declined due to the inflation surprise in September. Yields on one-year maturities fell by 29 basis points, while three-year bond yields decreased by 10 basis points.
