

VIG Opportunity Developed Markets Equity Investment Fund

C series CZK MONTHLY report - 2025 OCTOBER (made on: 10/31/2025)

INVESTMENT POLICY OF THE FUND

The Fund aims to profit from the returns on global equity market investments through stock prices and dividend income. According to the intentions of the Fund Manager, the bulk of the Fund's portfolio is made up of shares of foreign companies issued through public offerings, but the Fund may also invest in shares issued by Hungarian companies. The proportion of shares that can be held in the Fund at any given time may reach the prevailing legal maximum. The Fund Manager has the option, at its own discretion, of hedging all or part of its foreign exchange risks using forward currency positions subject to observing the applicable legal requirements.

MARKET SUMMARY

In October, US capital markets continued to ride the AI wave, while the Fed's expected final interest rate cut this year and the end of quantitative tightening pumped further liquidity into the system. In addition to the dominance of the technology sector, the minor trade truce reached at the Trump-Xi meeting—a reduction in tariffs from 57% to 47% and a one-year easing of rare earth exports—came as a positive surprise, strengthening the dollar and growth prospects. At the same time, the threat of a government shutdown, record data center investments, and Fed Chairman Jerome Powell's caution regarding the December cut dampened the performance of traditional sectors. Bond yields moderated only slightly at longer maturities, while the short end saw a noticeable repricing of the interest rate curve. Europe remained in the grip of political and economic uncertainty: the initial optimism surrounding the formation of the French government proved short-lived, with banking sector stocks falling particularly sharply. Inflation rose slightly in September, but the ECB's decision to keep its key interest rate unchanged raised hopes of easing. Positive signs include a surge in car sales (especially hybrids imported from China) and stable unemployment. On the other hand, weak German industrial production and high energy prices linked to sanctions against Russia continue to put pressure on the continent's economy.

The Fund achieved a positive return in October and outperformed its benchmark index. We continue to maintain our overweight position in US equities relative to European equities. There were several transactions in individual stocks last month. We sold shares in the Danish multinational pharmaceutical company Novo Nordisk and Pepsi Cola after a minor rise. We closed our short position in the US software company Palantir and opened a long position, half of which we closed at the end of the month after a significant rise. We will hold the other half of the position until next month's quarterly report. In addition, we purchased a small amount of shares in Figma, a company that develops a cloud-based design platform. The company went public in August, and we believe that the share price will perform well in the longer term. We closed our short position in Japanese Nikkei index, when it fell by more than 5%, but reopened it at the end of the month.
