

VIG Developed Markets Government Bond Investment Fund

UI series USD MONTHLY report - 2025 DECEMBER (made on: 12/31/2025)

INVESTMENT POLICY OF THE FUND

The objective of the Fund is to create a highly defensive investment portfolio for its Investors, which typically invests in developed-market government bonds and related exchange-traded derivatives. According to the intentions of the Fund Manager, the bulk of the Fund's portfolio is made up of bonds issued by foreign states and foreign companies through public offerings. With regard to foreign securities, the Fund only purchases publicly traded securities listed on a foreign stock exchange. It keeps the planned share of non-investment grade securities low. The proportion of bonds that can be held in the Fund at any given time may reach the prevailing legal maximum. In order to ensure liquidity, the Fund may purchase Hungarian government securities (primarily discount treasury bills) and MNB bonds. The Fund Manager has the option, at its own discretion, of hedging all or part of its foreign exchange risks using forward currency positions subject to observing the applicable legal requirements.

MARKET SUMMARY

The US stock markets showed restraint in December. Although lower inflation data in November initially sparked widespread buying, the Fed's cautious communication quickly dampened enthusiasm. Weak economic data did not support the expectation of a January interest rate cut. If disinflation continues, easing may occur, but it is not expected to happen quickly. Corporate reports are mixed. Sports equipment manufacturers have suffered from weakness in China, while logistics companies have benefited from cost-cutting measures. However, home builders continue to face challenges. As Christmas approached, small-cap stocks once again outperformed large-caps, with the Russell 2000 index significantly outperforming the S&P 500 in December. Bond yields have remained stable, and core inflation data may confirm the disinflationary trend. Investors now view AI repricing as the greatest risk for next year, while fierce competition among major companies continues. The eurozone showed signs of stagnation in December, with weak growth and stable inflation. The EU's Ukrainian financing package, implemented through joint borrowing, could bring short-term stability to the neighboring conflict. Bond yields are stable, and the euro is holding its own against the dollar. Markets are cautious. Services are keeping the economy alive while manufacturing is in recession. Analysts see opportunities in the relatively cheap banking sector for next year.

In December, the Federal Reserve decided not only to cut the base interest rate, but also to purchase short-term bonds. As a result, yields on shorter-maturity bonds declined, while yields on longer-maturity bonds showed a slight increase, causing the yield curve to steepen. During December, we made no significant changes to the fund's composition, which continues to maintain an overweight position of roughly three-quarters of a year relative to the benchmark index.
