

VIG Global Emerging Market Bond Investment Fund

A series EUR MONTHLY report - 2026 FEBRUARY (made on: 02/28/2026)

INVESTMENT POLICY OF THE FUND

The Fund aims to achieve capital growth by investing in bonds of emerging European countries and state-owned companies. The Fund does not apply credit rating restrictions: it may purchase securities of any country or company with any long-term credit rating. The Fund aims for the highest possible capital growth alongside reasonable risk-taking. The Fund primarily purchases foreign currency emerging market bonds, in addition to which it holds Hungarian local currency short-term and long-term bonds for diversification and liquidity management purposes. The bond portfolio may also include short-term, long-term, fixed or floating-rate, structured and convertible bonds issued by mortgage credit institutions, other credit institutions, local governments or other business entities. The core of the Fund's investments is Central Eastern Europe (Hungary, Croatia, Poland, Romania, Slovakia, Ukraine), South East Europe (Serbia, Turkey), the Baltics (Latvia, Lithuania) and the Commonwealth of Independent States (Azerbaijan, Belarus, Kazakhstan, Russia, Georgia, Armenia) and bonds of majority state-owned companies, in addition to which the Fund holds short-term and long-term Hungarian government securities for diversification and liquidity management purposes. The target weight for bond exposures in the Fund in the 16 countries listed (target countries) is 95%. We do not set a limit on debt classification in the Fund. The Fund may only conclude derivative transactions for hedging purposes, or in the interest of establishing an efficient portfolio. The Fund may also hold non-leveraged bond-type collective investment forms. The Fund may also take on significant foreign currency exposure, which is normally covered 100% by the Fund Manager in the target currency (USD), but depending on market conditions, the Fund may also hold open foreign currency positions.

MARKET SUMMARY

The global economy appears to have remained relatively resilient through the fourth quarter. Part of this stability reflects the fact that the inflationary effects of tariffs in the United States, as well as their drag on global trade, have proven milder than initially feared. Although policy uncertainty in the U.S. continues to run high, economic indicators outside the country are gradually showing improvement, and measures of global confidence have been edging upward.

Looking ahead, the policy backdrop is becoming somewhat more supportive. Several major advanced economies are expected to receive a boost from fiscal expansion this year, while monetary policy across most economies has moved back toward broadly neutral settings as interest rates have normalized. At the same time, artificial intelligence is increasingly visible across markets – its influence particularly evident in financial assets – even if the impact on hard economic data remains more limited so far, with the main exceptions being U.S. capital spending and certain trade and production indicators in Asia.

Meanwhile, the military confrontation involving Iran has escalated more rapidly than many observers anticipated, broadening the range of potential risks. The key uncertainty now centers on how long the Strait of Hormuz may remain effectively closed in practice, even if not formally declared so. Any sustained disruption – even a partial constraint on shipping lasting several weeks – could significantly destabilize oil markets and create wider ripple effects across the global economy.

Over the past month, we made several measured adjustments to the portfolio's positioning. We opened a new investment in Garanti Bank, a leading and highly profitable bank in Turkey, and modestly increased our exposure to both Bahrain and Egypt. These additions were partly funded by trimming our holdings of Turkish sovereign bonds following the strong rally. At the broader asset-class level, we continue to hold a neutral view on emerging-market external debt. Valuations look relatively rich, particularly after the strong performance delivered so far this year, which leaves limited room for further upside in the near term.
