EUR-RP series MONTHLY report - 2026 MARCH (made on: 03/31/2026)

INVESTMENT POLICY OF THE FUND

The Fund aims to profit from the returns on global equity market investments through stock prices and dividend income. According to the intentions of the Fund Manager, the bulk of the Fund's portfolio is made up of shares of foreign companies issued through public offerings, but the Fund may also invest in shares issued by Hungarian companies. The proportion of shares that can be held in the Fund at any given time may reach the prevailing legal maximum. The Fund Manager has the option, at its own discretion, of hedging all or part of its foreign exchange risks using forward currency positions subject to observing the applicable legal requirements.

MARKET SUMMARY

The defining event of the month was the outbreak of armed conflict between the U.S. and Iran on February 28, which fundamentally reshaped the global risk landscape. The closure of the Strait of Hormuz—the most important transit route for oil and natural gas in the Middle East—and the mutual strikes against energy infrastructure painted a picture of a stagflationary scenario. The S&P 500 index ended March, down nearly 7%, marking the global stock market's largest monthly decline since 2022. The technology sector led the correction, while energy and defense stocks showed relative strength. The Fed, acting as the central bank, left the benchmark interest rate unchanged; however, the previously priced-in rate cut disappeared, and the 10-year yield rose to near 4.4%. The Euro Stoxx 50, the benchmark for Europe, was also hit by high oil prices, with the index—which tracks the share prices of the largest companies—falling 10%. In line with this, the EU warned that if the price of Brent crude oil, the benchmark for the continent, remains around $100 per barrel, inflation could rise above 3%, and GDP growth could fall short of the 1.4% forecast by as much as 0.4 percentage points. The European Central Bank has found itself in an extremely difficult position, as the energy price shock is hitting Europe proportionally harder than the U.S., making market pricing regarding interest rate policy divergence unsustainable. Airlines, the auto industry, and the luxury goods sector suffered the most, while energy and defense stocks were positive outliers.

The Fund posted a negative return in March and underperformed the benchmark index. Due to the outbreak of war, stock markets around the world fell for nearly the entire month. Markets are likely to remain uncertain until investors have a clear picture of what the actual goal of this war is and when it might end. The biggest problem for the markets is the extremely high price of oil. If oil remains above $100 for an extended period, the likelihood of economies falling into recession could increase dramatically, while inflation remains high. During the month, we traded S&P 500 futures and options, and we also bought shares of Microsoft and Palantir.
