EUR-RP series MONTHLY report - 2026 APRIL (made on: 04/30/2026)
EUR

INVESTMENT POLICY OF THE FUND

The Fund's objective is to create an investment portfolio that is intended to achieve capital growth through active portfolio management, investing predominantly in US and European companies. Accordingly, the Fund Manager's investment portfolio is composed of developed-market equities, predominantly securities issued by US and European companies and short-term developed-market government bonds. The Fund pursues an active asset allocation policy. If the Fund Manager considers the prevailing capital market conditions to be unfavourable, it may significantly reduce equity exposure in order to protect capital. If capital market conditions appear ideal for taking equity exposure, the Fund Manager may invest the Fund's assets entirely in equities. On average over a full market cycle, the portfolio maintains an equity ratio of approximately 70%.

The Fund's investment universe includes the developed equity, bond and money markets. The Fund intends to hold liquidity related to trading needs in bank deposits or short-term developed-market government securities. As a general rule, of all the equities in the investment universe, the Fund intends to hold those that are considered the most popular among business partners, employees and investors.

The Fund Manager may significantly reduce equity exposure in the event of a break in a rising trend. In this situation, the Fund mainly holds foreign-currency money-market instruments in its portfolio. In the event of a rising market trend and increasing global risk appetite, the Fund will invest in developed-market equities as mentioned above.

The Fund invests at least 80% in assets that are issued and traded outside Hungary.

MARKET SUMMARY

In April, stock markets were still reeling from the news surrounding the Strait of Hormuz. Initial optimism surrounding the ceasefire and the resumption of shipping eased concerns about energy supplies and increased risk appetite. As oil prices fell, technology stocks outperformed, travel sector stocks rose, while energy stocks lagged. However, the calm was only temporary. Due to Iran's periodic closure of the Strait of Hormuz, the price of Brent rose above $100 again. Meanwhile, hawkish comments from the Fed's new nominee for chair pushed yields higher. News of the United Arab Emirates' withdrawal from OPEC and the extension of the U.S. Navy blockade later caused a sharp rise in crude oil prices and volatility, while concerns about OpenAI's momentum put pressure on the broader artificial intelligence sector. Although earnings from large-cap companies were mixed, Alphabet's strong earnings report at the end of the month led to the S&P 500 index breaking above 7,200 points. The vulnerability of the European economy due to its dependence on Middle Eastern energy sources was reflected in the underperformance of European stock indices. Thus, it is not surprising that market participants welcomed the start of peace talks between Iran and the United States, and the volume of institutional buying increased in the middle of the month. As volatility declined, we increased the Fund's equity exposure. By the end of the month, the Fund's equity allocation was approximately 70%, with significant exposure to growth stocks in the chip and artificial intelligence sectors.
