USD-IP series MONTHLY report - 2026 MAY (made on: 05/31/2026)
USD

INVESTMENT POLICY OF THE FUND

The Fund's objective is to create an investment portfolio that is intended to achieve capital growth through active portfolio management, investing predominantly in US and European companies. Accordingly, the Fund Manager's investment portfolio is composed of developed-market equities, predominantly securities issued by US and European companies and short-term developed-market government bonds. The Fund pursues an active asset allocation policy. If the Fund Manager considers the prevailing capital market conditions to be unfavourable, it may significantly reduce equity exposure in order to protect capital. If capital market conditions appear ideal for taking equity exposure, the Fund Manager may invest the Fund's assets entirely in equities. On average over a full market cycle, the portfolio maintains an equity ratio of approximately 70%.

The Fund's investment universe includes the developed equity, bond and money markets. The Fund intends to hold liquidity related to trading needs in bank deposits or short-term developed-market government securities. As a general rule, of all the equities in the investment universe, the Fund intends to hold those that are considered the most popular among business partners, employees and investors.

The Fund Manager may significantly reduce equity exposure in the event of a break in a rising trend. In this situation, the Fund mainly holds foreign-currency money-market instruments in its portfolio. In the event of a rising market trend and increasing global risk appetite, the Fund will invest in developed-market equities as mentioned above.

The Fund invests at least 80% in assets that are issued and traded outside Hungary.

MARKET SUMMARY

In May, trading was driven by news regarding Iran and the Strait of Hormuz, oil price volatility, earnings reports from artificial intelligence (AI) chipmakers, and shifting expectations regarding interest rate hikes following the appointment of the new Fed chairman, Kevin Warsh. Initial optimism regarding the ceasefire and strong earnings from major tech companies drove new index records. However, by mid-month, oil prices rose above $109 and higher inflation data pushed yields to multi-year highs, which negatively impacted semiconductor manufacturers' stocks, among others. Later, the resumption of ceasefire talks and positive news regarding the development of AI infrastructure reignited investor enthusiasm, pushing major indices to record highs. The vulnerability of the European economy due to its dependence on Middle Eastern energy sources was reflected in the underperformance of European stock indices. Due to the rise in long-term yields and the resulting renewed increase in stock market volatility, we reduced the Fund's equity exposure somewhat. By the end of the month, the Fund's equity allocation was approximately 50%, with significant exposure to growth stocks in the chip and artificial intelligence sectors.
