

VIG Czech Short Term Bond Investment Fund

A series CZK MONTHLY report - 2026 MAY (made on: 05/31/2026)

INVESTMENT POLICY OF THE FUND

The Fund aims to increase the value of its assets under management and to provide investors with a higher yield than Czech bank deposits and short-term bonds over a period of 1 to 2 years. No individual investor's decisions can be made in the Fund. The Fund Manager selects portfolio elements in accordance with the above principles. When making investment decisions, the tools of fundamental analysis and technical analysis are used, and the current market sentiment is also taken into account. The Fund primarily invests in discount treasury bills issued by the Czech State, sovereign bonds, bonds of quasi-sovereign companies, or bonds or deposit-like instruments issued by the Czech National Bank, the European Central Bank or the central bank of another Member State of the European Union. To a limited extent, the portfolio may include government securities, state-guaranteed bonds, corporate bonds (including those issued by financial institutions) and mortgage bonds with at least investment-grade credit rating. Investments may be made in Czech crowns or, to a limited extent, in other currencies. In the case of assets denominated in a currency other than Czech crowns, the Asset Manager shall strive to fully hedge foreign exchange risks (there cannot be a difference of more than 5% between the currency exposure of the derivative transaction and that of the asset to be hedged).

The Fund may enter into deposit and repo transactions, invest - to a limited extent - in units in collective investment undertakings, and derivatives may as well be used (for the purposes of hedging or building an efficient portfolio).

MARKET SUMMARY

The performance of bond markets continued to be shaped by the Iranian conflict that broke out at the end of February and has been ongoing ever since. Donald Trump's statements aimed at ending the war repeatedly put downward pressure on oil prices during the month. However, a lasting peace between the two parties has not yet been achieved. As a result, Czech government bond yields remained volatile throughout the month. By the end of the month, however, one-year yields had declined by 24 basis points, while three-year yields fell by 18 basis points. At its May rate setting meeting, the Monetary Council left the key policy rate unchanged at 3.5%. According to the minutes of the meeting, however, the central bank's communication became more hawkish, and a rate hike at the June meeting cannot be ruled out. According to the preliminary data, inflation eased in May, with the annual rate of price growth slowing from 2.5% in April to 2.1%. Core inflation was still approaching 3% in April, but in May it moved in tandem with headline inflation. However the data is particularly important from the perspective of the central bank's interest rate decision. Geopolitical uncertainty remains elevated, and the outcome of the war is still far from clear. Markets continue to price in three rate hikes in the Czech Republic for 2026, with the first one expected as early as June.
