CZKh-RP series CZK MONTHLY report - 2026 AUGUST (made on: 08/31/2026)

VIG ASSET MANAGEMENT

INVESTMENT POLICY OF THE FUND

The Fund aims to profit from the returns on global equity market investments through stock prices and dividend income. According to the intentions of the Fund Manager, the bulk of the Fund's portfolio is made up of shares of foreign companies issued through public offerings, but the Fund may also invest in shares issued by Hungarian companies. The proportion of shares that can be held in the Fund at any given time may reach the prevailing legal maximum. The Fund Manager has the option, at its own discretion, of hedging all or part of its foreign exchange risks using forward currency positions subject to observing the applicable legal requirements.

MARKET SUMMARY

August was dominated by uncertainty surrounding the leadership of the Fed—which serves as the U.S. central bank—and a surge in long-term yields. Federal Reserve Chairman Kevin Warsh's more reserved communication style triggered a crisis of confidence in the bond market, causing the 30-year U.S. Treasury yield to rise to a decade-high of over 5.3%. At the same time, the probability of a September rate hike fell from 65% to 40% over the course of the month due to weakening labor market data; then, following the Jackson Hole symposium, a rate hike once again became more likely.
In contrast, overseas stock markets remained on an upward trajectory, driven by exceptional corporate profits and the continuing wave of AI investment. A significant sector rotation took place among chip manufacturers, AI infrastructure investors, and hardware and software manufacturers. Risks include extreme levels of market positioning and leverage, the sustainability of debt-financed AI investments, as well as the Iran-U.S. conflict and domestic political tensions ahead of the November midterm elections.
In Europe, the corporate earnings season proved to be particularly strong: both banks and industrial players linked to AI infrastructure outperformed expectations, and the indices rose to new highs. Growth forecasts for the eurozone were revised upward, and inflation stabilized near the target. At the same time, long-term European yields rose to historic highs due to the ripple effects of global fiscal concerns, while high gas prices pose a risk to growth.
The Fund posted a positive return in August and outperformed its benchmark index. In August, U.S. markets began to rise early in the month and reached new highs. Sentiment was very positive, mainly because the U.S. attacks against Iran promised by President Trump did not materialize. However, the positive sentiment was also largely driven by the fact that corporate quarterly reports were exceptionally strong, exceeding analysts' preliminary expectations. During the month, we sold Russell 2000 futures contracts, but since the markets failed to decline, we repurchased them at a minimal profit. In addition, we traded SpaceX shares, but we sold those as well when they rose by more than 10% in a short period of time. In August, we further increased our exposure to Vonovia.
