MARKET SUMMARY

The US-Iran memorandum reached in June was initially intended to open a 60-day period of negotiations aimed at ending the fighting and reopening the Strait of Hormuz. At the beginning of August, there was still some optimism, with neighboring countries attempting to mediate in order to maintain the ceasefire. However, by mid-month it became clear that there had been no meaningful progress, and shipping through the strait therefore remained restricted. By the end of August, oil prices had risen back to around USD 90 per barrel, once again pushing yields higher. Polish bond yields also increased over the course of the month, with the 3-year yield rising by 19 basis points, 5-year yield rising by 24 basis points and the 10-year yield by 30 basis points. There was no monetary policy meeting in Poland in August, leaving the policy rate unchanged at 3.75%. According to preliminary data, inflation rose to 3.4% from 3.0% in the previous month. The increase was once again driven primarily by higher fuel prices. Although Poland temporarily reinstated a lower VAT rate on fuel, the measure proved insufficient to contain the increase in prices. Industrial production grew by 5.1% year-on-year in the seventh month of 2026. Retail sales also weakened somewhat, with year-on-year growth slowing to 3.9%.
