

VIG DEVELOPED MARKET SHORT TERM BOND INVESTMENT FUND

E series EUR

MONTHLY report - 2026 SEPTEMBER (made on: 09/30/2026)

INVESTMENT POLICY OF THE FUND

The aim of the Fund is to increase the euro savings held in the Fund, while assuming low interest-rate and credit risk. The Fund mainly buys short-term, euro-denominated bonds of investment-grade issuers, and aims to generate a return for investors through interest income and price gains on them.

The Fund Manager invests the savings held in the Fund in short-term bonds denominated in euros. The Fund Manager assumes a low interest-rate risk; the modified duration of the portfolio is more than 6 months, but may not be higher than 2.5 years. The Fund also follows a cautious strategy in terms of assuming credit risk, investing a maximum of just 10% of its assets in bonds of non-investment grade or non-credit rated issuers. The Fund primarily invests in developed-market government securities, but this can also be supplemented by credit-institution, corporate and/or municipal bonds, as well as by term deposits and repo transactions. The Fund can also invest a small part of its portfolio in emerging markets. In addition, the Fund may invest in collective investment forms, and can fine-tune the design of its portfolio through the use of derivatives (stock-exchange and OTC transactions). The Fund invests exclusively in securities denominated in euros, and may hold currency assets in bank deposits or bank accounts only for the purpose of liquidity management and currency hedging. It is not possible to make individual investor decisions in the Fund.

No individual investor's decisions can be made in the Fund.

MARKET SUMMARY

The main event of the month was the Federal Reserve's interest rate increase: the US central bank raised its benchmark rate by 25 basis points, as expected. This is the first rate hike since July 2023, and market participants expect it to be followed by a further 3–4 rate hikes. Rising U.S. yields are being driven by a combination of factors, including the substantial U.S. budget deficit, inflationary pressures, and bond issuances linked to AI investments. Despite this, there has been no overall downturn in the U.S. stock market yet, but beneath the surface, the picture is no longer uniform. While AI-related equities are performing well, stocks of companies operating in more traditional sectors of the economy are underperforming. This is clearly illustrated by the underperformance of the Russell 2000 Index, which tracks the average price changes of small-cap stocks. Corporate earnings and earnings expectations remain strong, but it is unclear how vulnerable these outlooks would be if the development and adoption of AI were to slow down due to regulatory or other factors.

Monetary policy is also tightening in Europe. Alongside improving growth prospects, rising inflation expectations driven primarily by high energy prices are a particular concern. The bond market is characterised by soaring yields. In Western Europe, high yield levels are being driven by domestic political instability, rising inflationary pressures and the ongoing Russia-Ukraine conflict. The automotive industry, a key driver of European manufacturing, is under pressure to undergo structural change due to competition from China.

The European Central Bank raised interest rates in September, following a hike in June; nevertheless, yields on medium- and long-term bonds continued to rise. As a result, the Fund's value declined by nearly 0.8% over the past month. Within the Eurozone, the French bond market is currently experiencing the greatest strain, as investors lack confidence in an improvement in the fiscal situation while the sovereign debt-to-GDP ratio approaches 120%.

Regarding the Fund's composition, we participated in the 5-year euro-denominated bond issuances of OTP and MOL, which offer an attractive yield spread over euro-denominated government bonds. The Fund's positioning is moderately positive following the significant rise in yields seen recently.
