INVESTMENT POLICY OF THE FUND

The AEGON Atticus Vision Derivative Fund is the so-called premium product of the AEGON Hungary Fund Management Company. It represents more risk than its "smaller brother" the AEGON Atticus Alfa Derivative Fund, but it also targets a much higher yield. The Fund is strongly concentrated, pays less attention to diversification and follows an opportunistic investment strategy. The investment possibilities of the fund are extremely wide. The Fund's assets will be invested according to the anticipation of the portfolio manager. The Fund mainly buys or sells equities and equity indices, opens forward currency positions, buys options and writes option contracts in order to earn the option premium. The fund is allowed to use double leverage by investing in derivatives and futures which means that the value of the positions of the Fund can be the double of its capital resources. Should the price of the fund's assets change by 1%, the balance of the fund could may change by as much as 2%. Leverage has the potential to enlarge profits or losses by the same magnitude. The greater the amount of leverage on capital you apply, the higher the risk that you will assume. The Fund is allowed to take long positions and uncovered short positions as well. According to this, the Fund can bet on a bullish or on a bearish market situation, too. The fund's main goal is to over-perform its benchmark which is the RMAX Index + 3,00% The investors also have the opportunity to profit from the anticipations of the fund manager if those turn out to be right. The fund manager typically keeps the assets of the fund in government securities, and he only invests into riskier assets if he discovers some attractive investment possibility.

MARKET SUMMARY

Good sentiment continues on capital markets last month because the QE2 and expansive fiscal policy support the markets adequately. The improving labour market and increasing profitability of companies are a proof that these actions were effective. An expansive monetary and fiscal policy can cause a high inflationary economic environment on a long run, where with we and the market count too. That's why we added to our corn and wheat long positions. We opened a long EURJPY positions because of the easing European sovereign crisis and inadequate solution to the Japanese fiscal situation, which was closed after the Japanese downgrading. The fund gained 3.0% last month, which is 2.1% better than our benchmark. This good performance is a result of above-mentioned commodity and forex positions. We take Egyptian political crisis into consideration and we are very careful. That's why we do not plan to open risky position aside commodity position.
