MARKET SUMMARY:

There was a slight shift and significant volatility on the main stock exchanges in February which were caused by the no-win situation of the Italian elections, the growing concerns in China and the American budget correction. In America, till the end of the month no agreement regarding the budget was reached, so the austerity measures which are to reduce spending by $85billion in 2013 were implemented. In terms of manufacturing outlook, US signals further improvement and the purchasing manager index increased to 1,5 year high. Even though the Chinese manufacturing index is still in the expansion territory it lags behind both analyst expectations and January data. While several developed market indices are close to historical highs, the emerging markets continued to underperform despite low interest rate environment. Followed the Italian elections the euro depreciated significantly against the dollar. Because of the strengthening of the dollar and the growth concerns regarding China, the raw materials performed weak in February.
