INVESTMENT POLICY OF THE FUND:

The fund is intended to serve as a stable, moderately low-risk form of investment, and to offer investors higher returns than bank deposits over the medium term. The portfolio elements are selected in accordance with the above principles. To ensure liquidity, the fund primarily aims to hold bonds and discount treasury bills issued by the State Debt Management Centre on behalf of the State of Hungary, as well as bonds issued by the National Bank of Hungary. The fund has a low risk profile, but its portfolio may also contain foreign-denominated debt securities issued by banks and corporations, which are expected to yield a higher return than government securities. The fund may also keep its liquid assets in bank deposits. Besides this, the fund may hold a limited proportion of foreign-currency instruments in its portfolio, but only subject to the full hedging of currency risk. Aegon Domestic Bond Fund must hold minimum 80% of its assets in HUF-denominated bonds issued by the members of European Economic Area.

MARKET SUMMARY:

In March, YoY inflation rose to 3.7% from 3.1% in February, in line with market expectations, driven mainly by rising fuel prices. In the coming months, due to base effects, the pace of inflation may increase even further, approaching the 5% level. In March the central bank left the key rate unchanged at its interest rate decision meeting, and the one-week deposit rate did not change during Thursday's tenders either. The central bank's communication continues to be hawkish, they pay special attention to inflation developments, and they are ready to use the appropriate tools if the risks warrants it. The rules of the asset purchase program have been slightly changed, the 50% limit for each bond series has been abolished and the corporate bond purchase has been extended. As a result of the developed markets' yield increases and the introduction of new restrictive measures, the domestic yield curve also moved up. Making the asset purchase program more flexible brought some adjustments to the yields, but yields were still 14 basis points higher at 10-year maturities and 4 basis points higher at 5-year maturities than at the beginning of the month. The market is already pricing in a 100 basis point rate hike over the next two years, with the focus continuing to be on the expected inflationary effects of the reopening.
