MARKET SUMMARY

The Polish bond market performed strongly in April. The yield curve moved lower, with yields falling by 8 basis points on the three and five-year maturities and 16 basis points on the ten-year maturity. Preliminary data showed inflation in April to have fallen to 14.7% from 16.1% in March, below market expectations. Inflation has not been this low since May last year, mainly due to a slowdown in food prices. The Polish central bank kept the base rate at 6.75% for the 7th consecutive month at its rate-setting meeting in early April. Governor of the Polish National Bank, Adam Glapinski stressed that a rate cut could take place as early as this year if inflation falls into the single digits. According to a Bloomberg poll in April, the Polish economy will grow by 0.7% in 2023, the first quarter GDP forecast was revised upwards from -1.2% to -0.8% and the second quarter GDP expectation was left unchanged at 0.4%. The purchasing managers' index continued to fall, with the manufacturing index dropping to 46.6 from 48.3 the previous month. The index is thus still below the 50 mark, as output and new orders are still declining due to the uncertain economic environment and high inflation. Industrial production fell by 2.9% in March, below market expectations of -1.9%. As for public finances, the government generated a deficit of PLN 11,981.1mn in February, bringing the 12-month rolling budget deficit to 0.74% of GDP.
